

PARENT RECOMMENDATION COMMENTS

The counselors invite you to “brag” about your child and give us information that you think would be informative to a college admissions committee. Be honest, be proud, be serious, be funny!

Give us information that we can use to “bring your child to life” in college admissions recommendation letters. Examples and specific incidents that illustrate your assertions are the most effective. Choose the choices below that relate most to your students and used as much space as you need. You may use another sheet.
